Class Prophecy

Ten long years had passed since I had seen any of my old class of '57. Since I had a vacation and had accumulated a few dollars as a bachelor school teacher, I boarded a plane and started home. I had heard that La Grange had become a metropolis since a large deposit of uranium was discovered west of town. After landing in La Grange, I started down the ramp of the plane, when a scurrying little gray-headed man nearly knocked me down. The man turned out to be Lewis Pascoe, owner of the airline on which I had been riding. Lewis and Barbara Farr had been married shortly after graduation and together they had started B. & L. Jet Airlines. When I asked Lewis about the gray hair, he said that Barb making him do all the work and their three kids the gray hair hadn't been long coming in. Lewis said that most of the class of '57 were still around and that I would probably run into some of them.

I saw a sign near the street to town which said, "Shorty's Hack Stand" and who do you think was the cabbie? Why of course it was Finley Lewis. Finley said he decided that this was the easiest line of work to get into so he saved his money and bought a car. Finley took me uptown in the thriving city of La Grange. Shorty told me he and Viola Weathers were married and had four children. All of them, he said, had Vi's vitality and sense of humor and his intelligence. Shorty told me that his "partners in crime" in the old American Problems class, Clearssia Tasco and Wilma Tate had opened a big restaurant in La Grange and they were doing real well.

As I got out of the cab I was nearly run over by a little black hot-rod with a yellow streak on it. Of course I recognized the car at once as that of Larry Brandt. Larry came to a screeching halt and jumped out to see if he had hit me. Larry was now a big car dealer, but he said that he just couldn't part with his little "Black Phantom." Larry said he had stayed single and lived in a large twenty-room house alone. As Larry sped off to keep an important appointment a group of servicemen came marching down the street. A gruff sounding officer was in charge of the men and I soon recognized him as my old classmate, Ronnie Fishback. Ronnie had made a career of the Army and was now a colonel. He was in command of the fort which guarded the uranium strike. Ronnie had never married, but several of the WAC's from the base at Canton were after him. Ronnie said that he was on an important mission and had to hurry off to the base.

I was wondering who I would meet next when out of the blue a blonde in a shiny red convertible went racing down the street with a policeman right behind her. When the cop finally got her stopped I recognized the girl as Sissy Musholt and the cop as Billy Turner. Billy just calmly wrote out a ticket and then told me that Sis's husband, Bob Tiemann, would pay the ticket and that Sis would probably get another on the next day. Bob was a wealthy farmer and didn't care how many tickets Sis got. Leaving Sis and Billy I walked on down the street.

A large neon sign next attracted my attention. The sign advertised "Red's Real Estate, Inc." I knew that the name Red sounded familiar and decided to have a look. You guessed it the owner of the place was none other than Harold Prisner. Harold was making a fortune selling uranium claims. Harold's secretary looked familiar and I asked him who she was he said that it was none other than Patsy Geery. Harold said Patsy was the most efficient secretary he had ever had. Time was rapidly slipping by and I had to bid Harold and Patsy good-bye and try to look up some more of my classmates.

Around the corner from Harold's office was a large impressive looking brick building. This was the new La Grange Coliseum. I noticed that the newly formed La Grange Pro Basketball Team was playing at home and went in to look around. There were only two people on the floor as the game wasn't until evening. One of the fellows suddenly recognized me and rushed over and shook my hand. It was none other than Alvin Vaughn. The other man turned out to be Gayle Bradshaw. Gayle and Alvin were the stars of the team and they were practicing a little before the big game. Alvin told me that he had married Mary Schroeder after graduation and they now had five boys, enough for a whole basketball team. Gayle had also married and had three children. Alvin told me that another of my former classmates was working at the Coliseum. Wayne Feldkamp was a part time referee when he wasn't taking care of his family or prospecting for uranium. As I went out of the Coliseum I was nearly run over by a big man with a still bigger cigar. His head was so enshrouded with the smoke from his stogie he could hardly see where he was going. The guy apologized and then I recognized him as Lester Waganer. Lester was a renowned mining engineer and was the one who discovered the uranium near La Grange. Lester said that shortly after his graduation from Missouri University he and Judy Harrison had been married. He and Judy were very happy and had a large family. As Lester and I were talking a young looking man came rushing by. Lester grabbed him and asked me if I recognized him. It was Danny Logsdon. Danny was a big recording and motion picture star. Danny said that he was associated with another classmate, Murray Childers, who was the conductor of the very popular band, "Murtleo's Musicals." Murray and Danny had made several records which had sold a million copies. Danny told me that another of my old classmates Ron Jacobsen was now mayor of the booming metropolis of Maywood. Ron and Carol Frieden, another classmate had been married shortly after graduation.

After leaving Danny I saw a huge billboard on top of a little building on the corner. The billboard was advertising the J bar W Dude Ranch. The building under the sign was that of a beauty shop. The beautician turned out to be Sharron Slater who said that the ranch advertised on top of her shop was owned by two other classmates, Wayne Waterman and Juanita Vestal who had been married for several years. Sharron was still happily married and between taking care of her family and operating a beauty shop she was kept quite busy.

During my stay in La Grange I also found out that two of my classmates were out of the country at the time. Harold Shannon was completing a round the world cruise in a new one man sub for the Navy. Charles Cunningham was in Africa hunting big game. Charles, I was told, took a trip every year to get away from the hustle and bustle of the big city.

While in La Grange I decided to visit the old high school. The first person I encountered was a tall, familiar looking fellow. It was none other than Don Dillon, the head basketball coach of good old L. H. S. Don said he had had several very successful seasons as a coach and looked forward to many more. Don told me there was someone in the office that I would probably enjoy seeing. Much to my surprise sitting back of a large desk was our Senior sponsor, Mr. Griesbaum. Mr. Griesbaum hadn't changed a bit except that he now had a crew-cut which he said made him look and feel younger. Mr. Griesbaum said that Mr. Bonney had caught the uranium bug and was spending most of his time prospecting. My vacation was rapidly fleeting by and I, Vern Wolfmeyer, bade La Grange good-bye and retired to my dreary classroom somewhere in Missouri.

Student Council History

The Student Council of La Grange High School was first organized in 1951, the faculty selecting three seniors, five juniors, three sophomores and two freshmen as members. Mrs. Hixson was appointed sponsor and Howard Bryson was President. This Student Council set up an "Honor Roll System" which is still in use today. The first Student Council drew up a constitution and the duty of the Student Council was to discuss matters concerning the students. They selected parties and movies for the student body.

Mrs. Hixson was elected as the sponsor of the Student Council of 1952 and 1953, and Virginia Tuley was elected as their president. This year two amendments were added to the constitution. This year the student council assisted in the election of cheerleaders.

Alice Lee Solter was elected President of the Student Council in 1953 and 1954 and Mrs. Hixson was the sponsor. The Student Council took charge of the freshman initiation and election of cheerleaders. Additional amendments were added to the constitution.

In 1954 and 1955 Sue Fishback was elected as the Student Council President. Mrs. Hixson was elected as sponsor, but Mrs. Bonney finished the year. A pop corn machine was purchased, the Student Council paying three-fifths of the total amount. Parties and movies were planned by the Student Council.

Maxine Solter was elected as the 1955 and 1956 Student Council President. The group elected, as their sponsor, Mrs. Bonney. The Student Council took part in the P.T.A. Carnival. Live assemblies were obtained through the National Assemblies Program.

Our President for the 1956 and 1957 Student Council was Vern Wolfmeyer. Our sponsor was Mrs. Bonney. The student body elected Marlene Musholt as Vice-President. Officers of Student Council were; Secretary, Pauline Eisenbeiss; Treasurer, Pat Hoyes; Reporter, Murray Childers; and representative to P.T.A., Mary Jean Musser. A recreation room was obtained by the Student Council and in it were a soda pop machine, a candy machine, and the juke box. The Council sponsored a formal Christmas Dance and a Valentine Party. It also sponsored "Teen Town."

GOOD LIGHT MAKES STUDYING EASIER

Good light is easy to have--usually it's as simple as using the right-size bulb. For study lamps, use a three way 50-100-150 watt bulb or a single 150 watt bulb. Floor lamps should have a three way 100-200-300 watt bulb with good general lighting throughout the room. Why not check your lamps today?

Miss Withams
 I will remember you
 as one of my teachers
 who was brave enough to take us to Chicago
 Jim Brenner

Miss Withams
 I will remember
 you as one of my favorite teachers, and that on the sailer that was taken to Chicago
 by your teachers.
 I will remember
 you as one of my favorite teachers.
 I will remember
 you as one of my favorite teachers.
 I will remember
 you as one of my favorite teachers.

Miss Withams
 I will remember you as
 as my favorite teacher besides Mr. H. and as the teacher who had a sailor flipping on the train.
 Jim Brenner

Miss Withams, I'll remember you as my favorite teacher in High School, and also as the teacher who went to Chicago with us. Remember all the fun we had on that trip.
 John Baker

Miss Withams:
 I will remember you as my favorite teacher, also as one of my favorite teachers. Remember as the teacher that went with us to Chicago. Also as one of my favorite teachers. Remember that "practical" guy
 on the train?
